

SDM-Elektro: a new identity within the SDM-Group

Experience has shown that a lot of national and international customers have to contend with the financial causes of poor grid quality and the associated risks thereof. To respond to this growing need of power quality, SDM-Group has established a new entity: SDM-Elektro, specialist in Power Quality.

SDM-Elektro has designed an unique and innovative device to intercept and correct power fluctuations and to use the stored energy during a power outage or failure. This ingenious system guarantees the continuity of your production process and a high operating efficiency resulting in an increase of your growth and a significant cost saving.

Are you interested in enhancing the energy efficiency, reliability and safety of your electrical installation, to protect your installation against failures and to secure from safeguard against possible damage due to poor power quality or disruption? Please free to contact us.

Rob Engelen, Commercial Director (+31 623 177 064), or click here for more information.